

Nashville Scene Critic's Pick

Process: A One-Night Art Happening

By Joe Nolan

Published on September 04, 2008

No gallery in Nashville has adopted as imaginative or multifaceted an approach to the art game as Twist. They regularly feature un-sellable installation work, supplemented by handmade retail gifts and clothing, while demonstrating real endurance as a downtown pioneer by expanding into satellite locations and one-night events. Process is the latest example of the gallery's signature programming-it's a group art show, but with a twist. Focusing on work by faculty, students and alumni of Watkins College of Art & Design, the show features Iwonka Waskowski, Erin Plew, Nick Stolle, Kelly Bonadies, Sarah Dark and Sarah Shearer. The work on display will be unfinished, prompting a discussion of--wait for it--the artistic process. This show will take place at 214 Third. Ave. S. (between Union and Commerce); simultaneously, a new show by painter Irene Wills will open in Twist's Arcade space.

Sat., Sept. 6, 6:30-9 p.m., 2008